CLASSIFIED ADVERTI

BARGAIN

For $10 paid in advance, $30 worth of Classified Advertising will be given. This reduces price to 24 cents a word. Coupons, representing the advertising, will be sent, which can be used at any or different times. This deal entitles the purchaser to 1,024 guesses.

Few Words About This Advertising.

This Classified Advertising, started about a year ago, is now regarded as a decided success, not only from the standpoint of the publishers in getting the patronage, but from that better standpoint—profitable results for the advertisers.

The price of this advertising is 5 cents a word, set in solid Agate type ers, by offering the space, during a limited period, at half price. Such an Figure correspondence solicited. Address Redman offer (see Bargain, on this page,) is made at this time, and any advertiser can avail himself of it, as well as of the Guessing privilege, which is explained in any issue of our paper.

Advertisers should not depend upon a continuance of this cut price. Five cents a word for this classified advertising has always been kept prominently displayed and will be excited a displayed. Five cents a word for this classified advertising has always been prominently displayed, and will be strictly adhered to in the near future.

McKlustry, Michigan Fiscal Agent, 316 Buhl Block, DeMcKlustry, Michigan Fiscal Agent, 316 Buhl Block, De-No paper adheres to rates more strictly than The National Tribune. We hope advertisers will see plainly that this cut in price is simply our method of stimulating a new feature.

An interesting development is that we are making a lot of new advertisers, whose success will lead them to seek other mediums, and thus benefit the general advertising business.

The injunction printed conspicuously at the top of this page-"Patronize Each Other"-must be credited with a measure of the suc-"Patronize Each Other"—must be credited with a measure of the successful results secured by advertisers. The readers of this paper have a strong feeling of comradeship and like to patronize each other. It is believed this good feeling is extended to every advertiser in The National Tribune.

Dear Tribune: Take out the above advertisement. The first two insertions of it in Subscribers' Advertising Columns brought me lots of inquiries, and I have sold the property. If I had a pretty big plece of the earth, I am sure I could dispose of it profitably by advertising in The National Tribune. I really believe that comrades like to patronize each other.

Yours in F., C. and L.

"I advertised 10 volumes of The National Tribune and they were sold at a good price to a purchaser in Wisconsin. After this I inserted an ad only one time of Bates's History of Pennsylvania Volunteers, and received 18 answers from cight different States, and sold the books to a comrade in Pennsylvania. Next, I advertised some volumes of fine old magazines, and received answers all the way from Pennsylvania to North Dakota and sold them. After this I offered for sale a phrenological library and received answers all the way from Ohio to Louislana. These goods have not yet been sold, simply because we have not yet agreed on terms. I need not go more into detail to show that The National Tribune is not exceeded as an advertising medium in the United States."

BOOKS, AND PICTURES.

I INCOLN-TWO NEW BOOKS.—THE LIFE OF LI Lincoln in his nown words. A book of 221 pages, illustrated, fine paper, handsomely bound, for $1. No character in American history appeals more forcibly to American youth than that of Abraham Lincoln. His early struggle, with adverse circumstances, his unyiciding determination to rise by his merit alone, his noble devotion to every duty, public and private, and withal his ardealizand unselfish patriotism, make his life a lesson tolthe youth of our country whose value it is impossable to overestimate. This little volume put into the hands of pupils of our schools will endear the savior of his country still more to the hearts of the children. The Assassimation of Lincoln; Itmo, cloth, 323 pages; $2 illustrations; $1. The historical importance of this volume it would be difficult to e-timate. As absorbing as a novel and as accurate as the report of a statistician, it will attract the attention of every class of readers, and remain a source of reference to old and young.—Phila Public Ledger. Mr. Oldroyd has written much of the martyr President. He was the editor and complier of the well-known "Words of Lincoln." In this book he has told fully and accurately the story of the conspiracy, of the assassination itself, and of the arrest, trial and punishment of the conspirators. The work is well done. It makes an intensely interesting narrative and an important contribution to enduring history.—Boston Globe. Agents wanted. Sent upon receipt of price. Address O. H. CANCER.—MARVELOUS DISCOVERY OF AN Ohio physician that cures the most draaded of all human afflictions. The remedy is applied by the patient at home, thus saving the doctor's fees and avoiding dangerous surgical operations. There is no longer any need to fear cancer. A well known physician of Lebanou, Ohio, has been using a remedy for several years and his success has been marvelous. Being of a modest turn of mind he has never made any effort to extol the merits of his remedy and it is only through influential friends and cured patients that he consented to permit his name to be used publicly in connection with his work. He has finally been persuaded to send to all who suffer with cancer a full description of his method so that everyone may know from personal experience that cancer can be surely cured without the kuffe at their own home. Those who are afflicted with cancer, or who know of any one suffering with this heretofore fatal maindy should at once s'nd their name and addr-ss to the Dr. Curry Cancer Cure Co., (Box 779), Lebanon, Ohio, for full information and testimonials from hundreds who have been cured. Do not hesitate to write; you will be under no obligations, as this is purely an effort to make more widely known the great remedy discovered by Dr. Curry, and is designed to aid suffering humanity.
